

The Amicus Institute and Training Academy

Fostering successful, restorative, relationship-based programming for offenders, the professionals who serve them and communities that desire more effective reentry strategies

Amicus Institute Projects include:

- Men of Rafiki and Sisters Helping Sisters Outcome Study
- Statewide Girls' Study: gap analysis for girls in the juvenile justice system
- MNCoSA (Circles of Support and Accountability): restorative justice model for sex offenders
- St. Paul Effective Diversity Partners: in partnership with SPPD, Metro State and St. Thomas, action research for improve racial fairness in policing
- Tri County Girls Academy: a Ramsey, Dakota and Washington County partnership to determine the cost & benefits for a girls/ day treatment facility/program in the east metro

Amicus Academy Training for Professionals:

- Gender specific programming for girls and women based on Amicus Radius model for girls
- Relationship based programming for boys and men
- Mentor training for volunteers and train-the-trainer model
- MNCoSA (reentry for sex offenders)
- Employment Advantage: research based model for offender employment strategies and train-the-trainer
- Grief and trauma training
- Learning Organization/Leadership Development
- Chippewa County Restorative Justice model for small communities
- Circle Training

Real change starts on the inside.

www.amicususa.org 612-348-8570